1 General information

1.1 Aims

- Maintenance of qualification of certified project managers

1.2 Overview of the re-certification process

Online application for re-certification via www.pma.at (incl. proof of further education and proof of professional activity as a project manager)

Verification of the formal requirements (documents for re-certification) by pma

Optional: Interview with an assessor (concerning project experience)

Invoicing by pma, payment by the re-certification candidate

The certificate is available for download in the pma "Self Service Tool" under "Certifications" / "Certificates." If you select the "printed certificate by mail" option (for an additional fee), delivery takes approximately 2 weeks.
The certificate is valid for 5 years.

1.3 Requirements for the re-certification

Certificate

- Valid certificate as Senior Project Manager pma/IPMA® Level B

IMPORTANT: If, in the course of the pma/IPMA® Level B re-certification, you find that your activitiesover the last 5 years no longer correspond to the originally selected domain, you have the option of applying for re-certification in the domain in which you can demonstrate the relevant practical experience. Your re-certification process will then also include a ½ hour (telephone-) interview in which you can present your experience in the newly chosen domain.

IMPORTANT: In principle, re-certification is based on your existing certificate. If the practical experience you have demonstrated is not sufficient to extend your existing certificate, you have the option of extending the certificate at a lower level, provided you meet the relevant requirements for this. If your certificate is renewed at a lower level, you may continue to have it re-certified at that level. It is not possible to switch back to a higher level.

Knowledge

- Evidence of continuing professional development (education and/or training in project management) of at least 175 hours since certification/last re-certification, over the entire term.

Experience

- Verification of professional/business activities as project manager of complex projects since certification/last re-certification of 50% within the certificate's validity (in case of overlaps of projects, only one project will be counted).

1.4 Accepted education/training activities

Participation in events or productive work on topics related to project management is counted as follows:

- Training at university or at an institute of higher education: One hour of attendance is equivalent to one hour of training for the re-certification. Acquired diplomas may entitle to additional credit.
- Training in project management: One hour of attendance is equivalent to one hour of training for the re-certification.
- Participation in conferences or symposia: One hour of attendance is equivalent to one hour of training for the re-certification.
- Training organised by/with your company: One hour of attendance is equivalent to one hour of training for the re-certification.
- Conduction of presentations, seminars or lectures with documents prepared by yourself: up to 60 hours will be counted per re-certification process.
- Publication of books, papers, articles or blogs: 3 written pages are equivalent to one hour of training for the re-certification. Up to 60 hours will be counted per re-certification process.
- Independent studies: up to 60 hours will be counted per re-certification process.
- Assessor activities for pma/IPMA®: One assessment is equivalent to 5 hours of training for the re-certification. Up to 80 hours will be counted per re-certification process.
- In individual cases further subject-specific activities and trainings will be accepted. One hour of attendance is equivalent to one hour of training for the re-certification. Up to 40 hours will be counted per re-certification process.

1.) Change of certification level: You have the option of renewing your certificate at a downgraded level, if you meet the respective requirements. If your certificate is renewed at a lower level, it may be re-certified further at that level. A change back to a higher level is not possible.

2.) Change of domain: Should you notice during your pma/IPMA® Level B re-certification, that your activities in the last 5 years are no longer matching with your chosen domain, a re-certification in the respective domain of your practical experience may be requested. Your re-certification process will then include an half an hour interview by phone, during which you may outline your experiences in the new domain of choice.

Step 5: Self-assessment - Evaluation of your knowledge regarding the PM competence elements

- For better orientation and easier assessment of the PM competences, the corresponding competence indicators of the respective competence elements are shown. (see Figure 7: Self-assessment)

General information on Self-assessment of PM competencies:

The PM competencies are divided into three different areas:

- Perspective competences
- People competences
- Practice competences

The following self-assessment is to be carried out conscientiously and truthfully. It therefore requires some time.

The self-assessment of your PM competences is to be carried out using the ICB4 six-stage taxonomy (see next page), whereby stage 6 represents the absolute maximum. To be able to carry out the corresponding self-assessment it is necessary to familiarise yourself with the description of the corresponding competence elements in the ICB4. Your own competences should be assessed based on these descriptions.

Explanation of the taxonomy

- Stage 1 Knowledge:
  Recollection of basic concepts (theories, specific details, terminological knowledge, individual facts), recollection of patterns, processes, methods, categories, criteria, awareness of suitable material, minimum reorganisation

- Stage 2 Comprehension:
  Simplest level of understanding, recognising simple connections, showing awareness of what is being discussed, using material (without relating it to other materials, or recognising its broadest sense), translating, using one's own words, interpreting, extrapolating, recognising what has been learned in another context

- Stage 3 Application:
Use and implementation of unidimensional learning content in a new and specific situation, use of project management methods

- Stage 4 Analysis:
Examine and break more complex information into fundamental elements and parts, identification of elements, clarification of organisational principles and (explicit and implicit) structures or hierarchies, recognition of connections, explanation of relationships between the elements, making diagnoses and case studies. This is a question of breaking down the whole (=project) into its parts (plans in the project hand book), in particular observing relationships and effects (interactions) between the individual elements

- Stage 5 Synthesis:
Putting together elements and parts to form a whole, developing, producing a new structure or plan, interweaving experiences, developing hypotheses, networking, optimising the weighing up of pros and cons using an interdisciplinary approach, uniting two or more elements to form a new unit. Compile information together in a different way by combining elements in a new pattern or proposing alternative solutions, by using the optimized project management methods in highly complex situations. Taking into account personal experiences and using methods from other areas

- Stage 6 Evaluation:
Assessing, evaluating, judging a solution, a model, a procedure in terms of its usefulness, functionality, coherence and quality, discovering logical errors and defending opinions. Reviewing projects and guiding others in the area of project management in order to optimise the project management approach. Other project managers can be coached

Please mark your self-assessment of each of the competence elements. Only mark your highest stage for each competence element.

- the undertaking or contracting entity carrying out the work*
